To Whom It May Concern,

I would like to wholeheartedly recommend Srijan Kharel for his outstanding work and leadership skills demonstrated throughout the International Hackathon conducted by the Developers Association Jhapa. Srijan guided his team to achieve great feats with both the Telemedicine and Health Tech Theme Award and the highly acclaimed Great Social Impact Award.

Being the team lead, Srijan had a great vision, good initiative, and better organizational skills. With his team, he conceived and designed a solution to major healthcare challenges through technology directly. His ability to mix technical knowledge with a good sense of social awareness was the deciding factor in the success of the project.

Srijan demonstrated great teamwork and leadership. He shared tasks wisely, kept a spirit of creativity among the group, and paid close attention to make sure the project would work well in real-life situations. His project was seen by all the audience and judges as an excellent example of a solution that could be implemented technically and carried meaningful importance.

I Believe that high-level problem-solving skills, tested leadership skills, strong belief in using technology for social good are what Srijan possesses. These will make him stay valuable wherever organization he keeps with.

Sincerely,

Padam Prasad Dhakal
